Note: Mark calculation according to contributions.
Assume the mark for the presentation is m,
- If the contribution percentages are even (assuming there are n members, $1/n$ contribution for each member is considered as even), then each member receives m mark;
- Otherwise, if the contribution is not even:
  - Students with the highest contribution (e.g., $X\%$) receives m marks;
  - For other students, e.g., let another Student who has contribution $Y\%$ ($Y<X$), his achieved mark will be calculated as $(Y/X)*m$
